

“Other than the hospital, my life revolves around horses and my boys.”

Nurse Megan Smith and her husband, John have their hands full. With three boys and more than 40 horses, the family spends much of their free time at rodeos.

“My husband began our horse interest by training horses. We started with one horse and now have a breeding program. My two older children are into roping and have just started the kid’s rodeo in the Uintah Basin... and that’s probably the best thing we’ve ever done as a family. It’s so fun to go and watch those boys participate in the rodeo.

As a Registered Nurse in Labor and Delivery, Megan has spent over 10 years at the hospital. “I’m known as one of the breastfeeding ‘Queens’... I help moms that have breast feeding problems.”

In addition to working at the hospital for more than a decade, she’s a “life-timer,” born and raised in Vernal. Megan has seen the hospital grow from one that primarily serves Vernal to one that now has a regional focus serving the Northeastern part of Utah and the western slope of Colorado. With the addition of the new physician’s office building recently announced, she expects to see the hospital grow even faster and serve even more patients.

With the new construction, comes a new name, we’re now Ashley Regional Medical Center.
